

Dear Colleagues,

We are pleased to announce the 2020 Symposium on High-throughput Screening Technologies at Penn will take place in the Biomedical Research Building (BRB) Gaulton Auditorium on:

Thursday, April 30th from 9 am to 3:30 pm

Join us to learn about high-throughput screening projects and platforms available at Penn and how high-throughput screening can be used in basic and translational medicine.

This event is open to all faculty, postdocs, graduate students, and lab staff. Please keep an eye out for our follow-up email containing registration and program details.

Hope to see you there!

Sincerely,
Sara Cherry and Dave Schultz
