

Sixth Annual Microbiome Symposium: The Impact of the Microbiome on Cancer Progression and Therapy

Thursday, October 3rd, 2019
Gaulton Auditorium, BRB II/III

REGISTER HERE: bit.ly/2ZsyyOh

Accepting Poster Submissions (40" x 60") and poster abstracts
(500 words max) through September 23, 2019

Two abstracts will be chosen for presentation during the symposium
as well as awarded a prize of $250

Email submissions to: pcmp@penmedicine.upenn.edu

KEYNOTE PRESENTATION:

“The Secrets of Intestinal Microbiota for Oncoimmunologists”
LAURENCE ZITVOGEL, MD, PHD - Gustave Roussy

“The Fiber-Microbiota-Butyrate Axis in Tumor Suppression”
SCOTT BULTMAN, PHD - University of North Carolina

“Tumors Remotely Control Gut Microbiota and Suppress Cancer Immune Response”
ANDREA FACCIABENE, PHD - University of Pennsylvania

“Commensal Microbiota and Anti-Tumor Immunity”
THOMAS GAJEWSKI, MD, PHD - University of Chicago

“Immune-Microbiota Interaction in Lung Cancer”
CHENGCHENG JIN, PHD - MIT, University of Pennsylvania

“Molecular Control of the Gut Microbiota to Improve Therapeutic Outcomes”
MATTHEW REDINBO, PHD - University of North Carolina

“Microbiome and Diet in Cancer Therapy”
GIORGIO TRINCHIERI, MD - National Cancer Institute

“The Role of the Intestinal Microbiome in Allogenic Stem Cell Transplantation”
MARCEL VAN DEN BRINK MD, PHD - Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center

“The Role of the Microbiome in Response and Toxicity to Therapy”
JENNIFER WARGO, MD - University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center

Thursday, October 3, 2019
8 am - 7 pm | Gaulton Auditorium, BRB II/III
421 Curie Blvd | Philadelphia, PA 19104